POST OFFICE'S SERVICE IN BUSINESS SECTION

Folder Is Issued for Convenience of Washington Business Men.

Shows Hours of Collecting and Dispatching Mail and Places for Purchase of Supplies.

Postmaster Praeger has prepared a card folder showing "postal facilities" in the downtown business section of Washington, meaning the territory bounded by 7th, 15th and K streets and Pennsylvania avenue northwest. It gives the official staff of his office and the domestic rates of postage.

Station C, now at 1419 G street, but the location at 1319 New York avenue after December 1, and in charge of George C. Bondurant, serves the public from 7:30 a.m. to 6 p.m., daily, except Sunday, and on legal holidays, from 7:30 to 11 a.m. It keeps $10,000 worth of stamped paper in stock, comprising postage stamps, stamped envelopes of all denominations, postal cards, coils of stamps, international reply coupons and stamp books, and orders are taken there for the printing of "special request" envelopes. International and domestic money orders and registry business is transacted; money orders are both issued and cashed and a postal savings depository is maintained.

Special Delivery Collections.

Special collections are made there of local special delivery matter every half hour from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. and it is also a point of deposit for parcel post mail, insured and C. O. D. Dispatches of mail are made from the station at 8:10, 9:10, 10:40, 11:35, 1:45, 2:15, 3:40, 4:25, 5:45, 6:25, 7:05, 8:45 and 10:10 p.m., the time of transit to the main office being fifteen minutes and mails are received for dispatch up to the hour of closing.

Station G is located at the corner of 8th and F streets northwest, in charge of Superintendent Charles P. Murphy, and its hours of service to the public are from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. It also carries $10,000 worth of stamped paper, and performs the same kind of service as station C, except that it provides for the collection of local special delivery matter from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. and its dispatches of mail to the main office, requiring but ten minutes in transit, are made at 8:20, 9:20, 10:50 and 11:45 a.m., 12 noon and 1, 1:30, 1:55, 2:20, 3:50, 4:35, 5:10, 5:55, 6:35, 7:15, 8:55 and 10:20 p.m.

Telephone Orders Filled.

A feature announced is that requisitions for stamped paper of not less than 1,000 nor more than 5,000 stamps or envelopes of any denomination will be delivered to business establishments and may be ordered by telephone, and a further feature that collections of parcel post matter of the minimum weight of ten pounds, either for a single piece or a collection of pieces, will be made by vehicles from the main office upon notification by the sender to telephone Main 772, branch 51.

Postmaster Praeger states that under present conditions no mail deposited in street letter boxes in the business territory described remains in the boxes longer than forty minutes before it is gathered by mail collectors and turned in at station C or G in time for connection with the automobile collections for the main office, which are made every forty minutes.

The station formerly located at 10th and D streets northwest, has been discontinued.

LIEUT. D. B. LAWTON DEAD.

Lieut. Dwight Barker Lawton, United States Army, a member of the Army and Navy Club and the Carabao Club, died Friday at Worcester, Mass., according to advices to friends in this city.

Lieut. Lawton was forty years old and had been a victim of nervous paralysis for nearly five years. He enlisted in the Spanish war and saw service in the Philippines.

Lieut. Lawton was a native of Massachusetts and rose from the ranks. He served as private, sergeant and first sergeant, Company K, and battalion sergeant, 12th United States Infantry, from June 18, 1898, to July 7, 1901. ## ADDRESSES CLUB MEMBERS.

Max Phillip Discusses Interior Decoration of Buildings.

The George Washington Architectural Club was addressed at its meeting Friday night by Max Phillip of New York, expert on interior decoration. A. L. Harris, assistant professor of architecture at George Washington University, introduced Mr. Phillip, and the subject of his address was "The Technical Side of Decoration." He dealt with decorators as well as decorations and with the necessity for keeping decoration in harmony with architecture.

Getting atmosphere into the work, the use of a misuse of gold, getting the effect of age when necessary, and above all the necessity of co-operation between decorator and architect, also were discussed.

RECOMMENDS VIGOROUS PLAY.

Supt. Thurston Gives Views on Recreational Games for Pupils.

That the keynote of a well conducted recess is organization and that all children should be encouraged to take active part in the games that are played at recess time are two of the points emphasized by Ernest L. Thurston, superintendent of public schools of the District, in a bulletin which he has just sent to the various teachers. The suggestions were worked out in consultation with the director of physical culture, Dr. Rebecca Stonerod.

"Play should be vigorous and the games chosen such as insure each child taking an active part," states the bulletin. "Recess should be taken out of doors unless bad weather absolutely prohibits. Each child should be encouraged to take a drink of water. Swings and seesaws do not take the places of active play."

THE DAILY STORY.

After the Storm the Calm.

(Copyright, 1914, by W. Werner.)

Mattie bent over her sewing as she forced herself to present an attitude of indifference toward the visitor insisted on talking about David Graham. In spite of the visitor's closest examination of Mattie's countenance, she failed to discern anything that would prove her listener more than politely interested in her news, but despite her outward composure Mattie was all of a tremble.

So David had sold the house—her house! As such she had always looked upon it, for hadn't he built it for her and hadn't they both taken much pleasure in deciding just how it would be built? It was Mattie's home, and she was living in it now, but Mattie was stubborn, and although she knew that the quarrel was her own fault, she would not bring herself to acknowledge that fault, and gentle, loving David, who had ever been willing to shoulder all blame, had declared that else have our little house. I love it so!" David's face shone with a happy light as he caught her to him and whispered: "Do you really love the place, Mattie, and do you think you could love its owner?"

Mattie's answer was a muffled one, but David heard it and was satisfied. When at last she raised her head from his shoulder the storm outside had ceased and the storm in her heart had also ended, and there was only a great sweet calm.

THIRD OF STORY HOURS DRAWS RECORD AUDIENCE

Maj. Richard Sylvester is to talk on "Stories as Promoters of Law and Order" at the last meeting of the social culture story hour to be held next Saturday morning at 11 o'clock in the auditorium of Woodward & Lothrop's. The third of these story hours, under the joint auspices of the Federation of Women's Clubs and the W. C. T. U., was held yesterday.

A special invitation has been issued to policemen and their wives and children to hear Maj. Sylvester speak. The aim of the meeting is to bring about closer relations between parents and the police. Several police captains also are scheduled to relate their experiences.

At the meeting yesterday Dr. Morris E. Miller spoke on stories as promoters of purity. Mrs. Louise Harding Earl presided, and told her experiences in social welfare work. Mrs. Mary Lockwood made an impromptu address.

The attendance at the story hours has increased every meeting, and yesterday's was the banner meeting thus far. These in charge expect the largest gathering of all to hear Maj. Sylvester, as all are invited—Mrs. Earl says one does not have to be a policeman or a policeman's wife to get in.

ROCKVILLE AND COUNTY NEWS ITEMS AND NOTES

Court Hears Appeals From Registration Officers—Society Notes. Realty Transfers.

Special Correspondence of The Star.

ROCKVILLE, Md., October 24.—The session of the circuit court here today was devoted to the trial of appeals from decisions of the officers of registration for several districts of the county. Judge Edward C. Peter presiding. Nine cases were disposed of, the decisions of the registrars being sustained in four cases and reversed in five.

The petitions of Henry S. Bean and Spencer J. Bean, who were refused registration by the officers for the first precinct of Bethesda district, to have their names enrolled upon the books were granted. Both are employees of government departments at Washington, are unmarried and visit the home of their mother in this county at frequent intervals, and Judge Peter held that they were entitled to vote.

Addison H. Flournoy, Edmund S. Flournoy and Benjamin C. Flournoy were refused registration by the registrars for the first precinct of Bethesda district, and Judge Peter decided that the action of the board was right. The difficulty in their cases was that they moved into Washington in the fall of 1912 and had failed to make affidavit before leaving, as required by law, of their intention to return six months before the next election.

Fails to Appear in Court.

John E. Hilton, who was refused registration in the first precinct of Rockville district, was not in court when his case was called, and his petition to have his name entered upon the books was dismissed.

The name of Arthur C. Houghton, who was allowed to register in the first precinct of Bethesda district, was ordered stricken from the books. Houghton was married several months ago, and went to housekeeping in the city. The petitions of Harvey Ricketts and Zedoc Ricketts, who were refused registration in Clarksburg district because it was alleged they were one minute late in making application, were granted, and their names were ordered enrolled upon the books.

Society Events.

Lawrence E. Remington, twenty-one years old, and Miss Eva E. Smith, aged twenty-two, both of Alexandria, Va., were married in Rockville today in the presence of several friends, leaving for Washington immediately after the ceremony.

Barnes, pastor of the Christian Church, officiated at the marriage here of Andrew William Coleback, twenty-six years old, and Miss Lena Weigand, twenty-one, both of Washington, the home of the minister being the scene of the wedding.

The annual Halloween ball of the young men of Rockville, which will be held in the opera house next Friday evening, promises to be an elaborate affair. Several hundred guests have been invited and requested to wear fancy dresses. The committee in charge is composed of Thomas L. Dawson, Berry E. Clark, Robert L. Wardell, W. Russell Brewer and Valentine Wilson. The chaperons will be Mrs. William Dorsey, Mrs. Howard Larcombe, Mrs. Edward C. Peter and Miss Maudie Hogg.
